All center diamonds in the collection carry IGI certification, providing documentation of the stones' characteristics. The rings are available for viewing at the company's historical showroom in Redlands, California, or through the online shop for customers nationwide.

"Amazing service, helped us design a very unique engagement ring. Very satisfied with how it turned out!" said Trevor O., a customer who worked with the design team.

Mrs. Kerry Emerson-Cummings, Proprietor of Emerson Fine Jewelry, described the approach to engagement ring selection: "Each ring in our collection represents our commitment to quality craftsmanship and ethical sourcing. We work with couples to understand their preferences and guide them through the selection or custom design process to create pieces that will be cherished for generations."

The company's GIA-trained designers, gemologists, and jewelers provide consultation services for couples exploring engagement ring options. Custom design services are available for those seeking personalized creations.

"Impeccable service and staff. Everything here at Emerson's is unmatched. Whether you're looking for an engagement ring, custom piece, or a simple repair, look no further than Emerson's Fine Jewelry," noted Andrew T., who purchased from the store.

Customer Ashley S. shared her experience: "My then boyfriend and I were shopping for engagement rings and Kim made our whole experience absolutely fantastic! We felt comfortable and calm, which were feelings I didn't expect during this process, because let's be honest, picking out engagement rings is stressful! She educated us on the 4 C's of diamonds and much more. I told her what I liked and how I wanted my ring to look and she created an absolutely stunning engagement ring that I am 100% in love with! Our future jewelry purchases will definitely be from Kim. If you're in the market for engagement rings or jewelry in general, I highly recommend Emersons and ask for Kim!"

Beyond engagement rings, the company offers services including jewelry repairs, watch services, including Rolex repair, buying and selling of fine jewelry, and estate evaluation services. The average jewelry repair time is two weeks, with ring polishing available in-store while customers wait.

The Redlands-based jeweler operates from a renovated historical showroom and serves customers through in-person consultations and national shipping. The business specializes in bridal jewelry, timepieces, everyday jewelry, custom design, and repair services.

The company maintains standards of ethical integrity and transparency in sourcing, which extends to both diamond selections and custom handcrafted fine jewelry pieces. The business has served the Redlands community with these values since 1959.
