The Mark Cuban AI Bootcamp is Coming to Fort Wayne, Sponsored by CodeClouds

We are incredibly proud to support this AI Bootcamp, and we're doing it because we believe in the potential of our students and the power of our community”

Brian Hill

The Mark Cuban Foundation AI Bootcamp runs in 30 cities nationwide, and since 2019 has helped to empower thousands of students with a focus on the under-privileged. Designed to make emerging technologies accessible to young people, the curriculum covers topics such as machine learning, natural language processing, computer vision, generative AI, and ethical considerations. Participants will also explore real-world applications of AI across industries including healthcare, arts and entertainment, business, sports science, and computer science. This will be the first year a bootcamp will come to Fort Wayne.
