The new initiative marks a major milestone in CV5 Capital's evolution, expanding from its core fundformation and platform services into direct venture investment and strategic partnership with next-generation innovators building decentralized economies and intelligent systems.

"The convergence of Web3, AI, and gaming represents one of the most significant shifts in digital infrastructure since the emergence of the internet," said David Lloyd, Founder and CEO of CV5 Capital. "Our mission has always been to bridge institutional capital with the most forward-thinking innovation in digital assets. Each investment benefits from institutional-grade operational support, legal and compliance expertise, and access to a global network of investors and fund managers.

This new VC arm enables us to partner directly with the builders who are rearchitecting how the world interacts, transacts, and creates value."

- GameFi and Digital Worlds: Play-to-earn ecosystems, metaverse infrastructure, and digital identity innovations

"We see tremendous opportunity to back founders who combine technical excellence with a long-term vision for sustainable ecosystems," Lloyd added. "CV5 Capital's advantage lies in bringing institutional discipline, compliance, and governance to the rapidly evolving digital frontier."
