We built a platform that makes ordering custom polo shirts as straightforward as any other online purchase while maintaining the premium quality businesses need.”

Artin Hovhanesian, Co-Founder - PoloShirts.com

The company addresses a persistent industry problem: businesses waste hours navigating complex vendor relationships, dealing with inconsistent quality and paying inflated prices for basic polo shirts. PoloShirts.com removes these barriers by providing transparent access to top brands through a single online destination.

"Corporate buyers tell us they've dealt with the same frustrations for years—unclear pricing, confusing ordering systems and multiple vendors to manage," said Artin Hovhanesian, Co-Founder of PoloShirts.com. "We built a platform that makes ordering custom polo shirts as straightforward as any other online purchase while maintaining the premium quality businesses need."

The platform serves corporate HR managers, sports team coordinators, event organizers and small business owners across healthcare, hospitality, education, retail and professional services. Customers can preview designs in real-time, access comprehensive sizing resources and choose from sustainable fabric options including recycled materials and organic cotton.

PoloShirts.com operates from San Francisco with nationwide fulfillment capabilities. Standard production runs 7-10 business days with rush options available for tight deadlines. The company offers sample programs to ensure quality and fit before bulk orders.

Businesses can explore the full product catalog and design custom polo shirts at www.poloshirts.com.
