

DOLAN CONNLY, P.C. Celebrates 25 Years of Advocacy, Integrity, and Community from the Same Boston Office

BOSTON, MA, UNITED STATES, October 29, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- This month marks a proud milestone for DOLAN CONNLY, P.C., a Boston-based personal injury law firm that has been a steadfast advocate for Massachusetts residents for 25 years, operating from the very same Dorchester office where it all began.

When Attorneys Gregory and Barbara Connly founded the firm in 2000, they had three children under the age of four, limited resources, and a shared belief that “doing right by people” could build something lasting.

“We started the firm with more hope than money. When the phone would ring back then, it was usually my mom checking in to see how we were doing,” said founding partner Gregory Connly. “But Barbara and I believed that if we treated every client with respect, dedicated advocacy and kindness, the success of our firm would follow. Twenty-five years later, we’re still in the same office and still fighting for people who need someone in their corner.”

From the beginning, DOLAN CONNLY, P.C., focused on representing clients whose lives were disrupted by someone else’s negligence. Over the years, the firm has successfully handled hundreds of complex personal injury claims throughout Massachusetts and New Hampshire.

The firm’s Boston office has been a quiet constant since October of 2000; a place where late nights turned into victories, where holiday cards from former clients still arrive, and where the same front door has welcomed generations of people seeking help amidst very challenging circumstances. The walls have been the backdrop to years of hard work, and the team takes pride in the sense of continuity that comes from staying rooted in their original space.

“The people who come to us are often going through really hard times. They have been hurt physically and can’t work, so the financial pressures and stress mount,” said Attorney Barbara Connly. “With our help, we have watched our clients rebuild and recover, and that’s what has kept us going all these years. This office is where we grew up as business owners and personal injury attorneys. We have sat with clients and had hard conversations about the physical, emotional and financial fallout that comes with being hurt by another's negligence. We have also laughed and celebrated many milestones here ensuring that our clients' rights are protected and that the best possible outcomes are achieved."

Though the neighborhood has evolved over the decades, the Dorchester office continues to anchor DOLAN CONNLY, P.C.'s work. In this place, remarkable stories of resilience have unfolded for a quarter of a century.

"We built a home here", Gregory added, "for our family, our clients, and our team. This community has given us so much, and we're grateful to continue to be part of it."
