LOS ANGELES, CA, UNITED STATES, October 30, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Seattle based Electric Shock Productions (ESP), which operates in Los Angeles, is set to attend the American Film Market (AFM) next month, bringing worldwide rights for sale to its newest sci-fi action feature, 'Jack Harrison: Rogue Protocol'.

'Jack Harrison: Rogue Protocol' follows a 20-year-old commander in the secretive Earth Security Service as he faces his most dangerous mission yet. When a high-level oversight threatens to expose the agency, Jack uncovers a web of betrayal and hidden agendas that put everything he believes in at risk. On the run and racing against time, he must rely on his instincts, combat skills, and unlikely alliances to stay one step ahead of powerful enemies and prevent a threat that could alter the balance of power on Earth.

A high-stakes, adrenaline-fueled thriller, 'Jack Harrison: Rogue Protocol' blends interstellar intrigue with daring action, strategy, and a touch of romance, delivering a cinematic experience that reflects the next evolution of independent sci-fi filmmaking.

Pierce's journey to this milestone has been defined by bold creativity and perseverance. From his debut with 'The Future of Us' a short that grew into a full-length feature, to the summer comedy 'The Get Rich Quick Scheme', and the sporting drama 'Off The Line', Pierce has consistently pushed the limits of independent production. Each project honed his storytelling, technical precision, and leadership both in front of and behind the camera.

most ambitious project to date. With advanced visual effects, intricate sound design, and a relentless drive for cinematic innovation, the film embodies the company's signature ethos: pushing creative boundaries, embracing risk, and continually raising the bar for independent filmmaking.

Samuel L. Pierce and the team of Electric Shock Productions will be at the American Film Market (AFM) November 11th – 14th in Century City, Los Angeles, California.
