"Fine Paints of Europe represents a level of quality and beauty that's unmatched," said Don Sanchez, owner of Daeco Painting. "Our clients invest in craftsmanship that lasts, and these paints allow us to achieve finishes that are not only visually stunning but incredibly durable."

Preserving Denver's History with European Craftsmanship

Denver's historic neighborhoods — from Cheesman Park to Park Hill and Country Club — are home to elegant millwork, detailed trim, and classic architecture that deserve careful restoration. Daeco Painting specializes in preserving these timeless details and offering historic restorations using Fine Paints of Europe's Hollandlac Brilliant and ECO coatings to refinish doors, cabinetry, and moldings with museum-quality precision.

"Historic homes tell a story, and our goal is to preserve that story," Sanchez explained. "Fine Paints of Europe helps us protect the character of these homes while bringing a refined depth and luster that modern paints simply can't replicate."

Formulated in the Netherlands with ultra-fine pigments and advanced resins, Fine Paints of Europe products deliver exceptional coverage, color depth, and resilience — maintaining their brilliance for years in Colorado's bright, high-altitude light.

Luxury Finishes for Modern Colorado Living

With more than two decades of expertise in luxury residential painting, Daeco Painting also brings Fine Paints of Europe into modern homes throughout Cherry Creek, Montclair, and Washington Park. These slow-curing, high-build paints produce an ultra-smooth, glass-like finish ideal for designer interiors, statement walls, and custom cabinetry.

This craftsmanship-first approach has made Daeco Painting a top choice for homeowners, designers, and builders seeking lasting beauty and architectural excellence.

A New Standard in Craftsmanship and Sustainability

Daeco Painting's collaboration with Fine Paints of Europe reflects a shared commitment to sustainability and long-term value. The ECO line features low-VOC, waterborne formulas that meet stringent European environmental standards — perfect for clients who value both luxury and responsibility.

"Our work is about more than paint — it's about creating finishes that endure," Sanchez said. "Fine Paints of Europe allows us to deliver timeless results that respect both our clients' homes and the environment."
