A Transformative Two Days of Learning and Leadership
The day began with a powerful keynote from Founder & Host Chris Weinberg, "The Power of Your Why," inspiring attendees to reconnect with the deeper purpose behind their work. Weinberg closed the day with "Lead & Let Go," a transformative session focused on embracing systems, structure, and empowered delegation to achieve sustainable success.

Erica Powell, luxury business coach, strategist, and brand designer, took the stage to co-present "Pricing for Profit" alongside Weinberg, offering attendees practical tools for understanding value, setting boundaries, and driving profitability. Together, the two also led The Mastermind—a 20-person breakout session held on the second day of the event—which was exceptionally well received for its candid conversations, personalized guidance, and actionable takeaways.

Julie Roth Novack, CEO & Co-Founder of PartySlate, shared actionable insights on establishing annual priorities and leveraging data-driven marketing for intentional business growth.

Johanna Dilone and Adelee Cabrera, Co-Owners of Gilded Group Decor, Bambini Soiree, and OOAK Rentals, energized the room with The Spark Zone—a session blending creativity, production, and operational excellence.

The day also featured a lively expert panel moderated by MC Artem Lomaz, offering candid discussion on sustainability, leadership, and longevity in the evolving event industry.

A New Standard in Event Industry Education

Throughout the day, attendees actively engaged with an interactive summit workbook—completing guided reflections, strategic planning exercises, and leadership prompts tied directly to each session. This format ensured that insights didn't just inspire, but transformed into actionable strategies.

“Our workbook is where clarity becomes action,” said Chris Weinberg. “The Event Summit is not just about ideas—it's about implementation.”

Attendees praised the format for offering tangible tools to apply immediately within their businesses—elevating The Event Summit beyond the traditional conference experience.
