"Truly Home" is a prolific song with universal resonance, as it tenderly tackles the subject of grief during Christmastime. Every holiday is bittersweet due to the absence of loved ones, but this song is a lovely reminder that those we miss are with the One the season is about.

Says Billingsley: "The holiday season is full of so much joy and laughter! But, for many it can also be a time of sadness...especially for those who have recently lost a loved one. I, too, have experienced the fullness of that joy, but also the weight of that sadness. I pray that this song I wrote for my mom will encourage and bless you this Thanksgiving and Christmas season. My prayer is that it will remind you of the eternal home and the everlasting hope we have as children of God."

The new single was produced by Billingsley's longtime music director Adam Lancaster and Scotty
