Presented as part of Art on Tezos Berlin (November 6–9, 2025) — a celebration of digital art and blockchain creativity — the exhibition showcases artists redefining what it means to create, collect, and connect on chain.

“From still images to moving worlds, from human gesture to AI intuition — these works trace the poetry of transformation,” said Elena Zavelev, Head of Art and Web3 at HUG. “Art on Tezos reflects what feels timeless in the digital age: our enduring desire to create, to feel, and to be seen.”
