

Cosmetic icon launches compliance tech solution for booming cosmetic injectables industry: Yooli™

Yooli™ empowers cosmetic nurses and boutique clinics in Australia with an all-in-one platform for bookings, compliance, payments and patient care.

SYDNEY, NSW, AUSTRALIA, November 4, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Cosmetic nurses and boutique aesthetic clinics now have access to the most powerful tech platform ever built to help them manage and grow a compliant, professional and thriving business, all in one easy place.

Developed in Australia, Yooli™ is a groundbreaking platform designed to give cosmetic practitioners complete control over their operations, from client bookings and communications to compliance, record-keeping, patient tracking, templates, forms, payments and more.

Dr Vivek Eranki, CEO of Cosmetique

Dr Vivek Eranki, founder of Yooli™, has extensive experience in the aesthetic industry. He leveraged his expertise in structure, systems, and compliance to develop a platform that enables clinics to operate legally, efficiently, and at high performance from day one.

“Yooli™ gives cosmetic nurses and boutique clinics the confidence to focus on what they do best, delivering safe and effective treatments, while we take care of the background systems that keep their business running professionally and in line with current and future regulations,” said Dr Eranki.

“The platform provides the support and structure that professionals in the cosmetic injectables sector need to build and grow a successful business while meeting compliance requirements with ease and minimal cost.”

One platform, every solution

Yooli™ brings together every critical function a cosmetic clinic needs including bookings, scheduling, patient notes, scripts, payment processing, consent forms, communication templates and document storage.

“Nurses and clinics can manage their entire client journey, from initial consultation to post-treatment follow-up, all within one secure system,” Dr Eranki said.

Designed for compliance and peace of mind

Yooli™ includes built-in compliance tools such as patient-verified informed consent, Body Dysmorphic Disorder (BDD) screening and access to qualified prescribing practitioners for cosmetic scripts.

“It also contains comprehensive policy templates, professional documentation and audit-ready reporting ensuring nurses and clinics are fully aligned with AHPRA, NSQPCH and QIP standards,” Dr Eranki added.

Supporting professional practice from day one

Whether you’re a solo cosmetic nurse or operating a growing clinic, Yooli™ provides the essential tools to build a compliant, efficient and reputable business. The platform includes professional communication systems, staff logins with custom access levels, automated training and scope-of-practice verification, and secure data management via encrypted Australian servers with mandatory two-factor authentication.

“Yooli™ has been designed by people who truly understand the cosmetic industry,” Dr Eranki said.

“We’ve lived the challenges that nurses and clinics face and we’ve built a platform that delivers practical support, accountability and professionalism at every step.”

Empowering a new generation of professionals

“Yooli™ empowers nurses to work independently with confidence, manage risk effectively and maintain the highest standards of care. It’s available now via the Apple App Store, Google Play and as a Web App, giving users complete flexibility and control,” Dr Eranki added.

“With Yooli, we’re elevating the standards of the cosmetic industry, one clinic at a time,” said Dr Eranki.
