

BLOOH Solution approves capital return policy for the post-listing period

Policy aligns disciplined growth investment with measured shareholder cash returns and reinforces planning transparency across operations and finance.

VANCOUVER, BC, CANADA, November 4, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- BLOOH Solution Ltd. announces that the competent corporate body has approved a company-wide capital return policy to take effect following the company's planned public listing. The policy sets a clear objective for recurring cash returns in the order of approximately 6–7 percent per year, subject to the availability of funds, applicable legal requirements, and the Board's determinations at the relevant time. The decision reflects management's confidence in earnings quality, cash-flow resilience, and the company's medium-term scaling trajectory.

BLOOH Solution's capital return framework visualizes the balance between growth trajectory and recurring cash distribution for institutional participants post-listing.

The policy is designed to balance investment in growth with dependable capital return. It is grounded in robust cash-flow planning, disciplined working-capital management, and a focused investment filter that brings together return profiles, execution pace, and regulatory considerations. The emphasis is on transparency, planning reliability, and the ability to respond to market and interest-rate conditions without losing sight of the strategic agenda across technology, industrialisation, and international expansion.

Operational implementation will be embedded in existing governance, treasury, and disclosure processes. This creates the conditions to execute capital measures efficiently, traceably, and in accordance with the rules of the relevant listing venues once the company is public. Management will review the policy's indicative levels on an ongoing basis in light of performance, liquidity, and the investment pipeline; adjustments remain possible where they support long-term value creation.

“Capital allocation is a strategic instrument, and our policy makes that approach tangible,” said Catherine Hall, Head of Public Relations at BLOOH Solution. “We are coupling growth investment with a clear framework for recurring cash returns. That keeps the organisation agile, strengthens trust, and underscores our emphasis on stability and transparency.”
