

Wondercide Announces 2025 Reclaim the Leaf Pile Photo/Video Contest.

Wondercide and @dognamedstella invite families to jump in the leaves without ticks and fleas.

AUSTIN, TX, UNITED STATES, November 6, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Autumn used to mean raking up crunchy, colorful leaf piles and launching into the fun. But worries about ticks and fleas hiding in the leaves is stealing part of this joy. A recent study finds that 1 in 10 Americans (or 31 million people) might experience a tick bite each year.¹ And with potential ticks and fleas in piles of leaves, families and pets are wary of the once-beloved tradition. But thanks to Wondercide's effective plant-powered tick and flea repellent, people and pets are reclaiming leaf-pile season with confidence that outdoor play can be healthy and just as fun as everyone remembers.

Stella @dognamedstella exemplifies the pure joy of jumping into the leaves. This yellow labrador and her sister, Mabel, are partnering with Wondercide for the Wondercide's 2025 Reclaim the Leaf Pile Contest. Ready to play in the leaves? Grab a rake and take the leap. Here's how:
