us," says Dr. Corrie Bates. Dr. Bates brings over two decades of experience and heartfelt compassion to her work in end-of-life veterinary care. Born and raised just outside Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, Dr. Bates discovered her calling at an early age — she was barely talking when she first told her family she wanted to become a veterinarian. After earning her undergraduate degree from Florida Atlantic University, she went on to achieve her Doctor of Veterinary Medicine from Mississippi State University in 2000. For the past 24 years, she has dedicated her career to small animal medicine, providing exceptional care to countless families and their beloved pets.

Before veterinary school, Dr. Bates gained formative experience working with a house-call veterinarian, where she witnessed firsthand the profound peace that comes when pets are allowed to cross the rainbow bridge in the comfort of their own home. That early lesson has stayed with her throughout her career, inspiring her to create a more compassionate and personal end-of-life experience for both pets and their families.

"I've always felt that the passing of our beloved pets deserves more time, care, and reflection than is often possible in a clinic setting," says Dr. Bates. "I encourage families to share stories, play a favorite song, or incorporate cultural or spiritual rituals that bring comfort and meaning. Each farewell is unique, and it's my honor to help make that final passage as peaceful and dignified as possible."

Now partnering with CodaPet, Dr. Bates continues her mission to provide families with compassionate in-home euthanasia services — offering pets the gift of peace and familiarity during life's most tender moments.

Dr. Bates serves Baltimore, Silver Spring, Columbia, Hyattsville, Rockville, Gaithersburg, Frederick, Laurel, Bowie, and the surrounding cities.

How In-home Pet Euthanasia Works

Through CodaPet's website, pet parents can easily book in-home pet euthanasia performed by a licensed vet.

Before the appointment, the vet contacts the family to address any questions or concerns they might have.

The vet assists the family by going over the diagnosis and applying a quality-of-life assessment to objectively assess the pet's health and ensure there is no uncertainty about the need for euthanasia.

For those who need support with aftercare, CodaPet can also assist with transportation and cremation services.

The visit takes, on average, one hour. Pet parents have a window of time to be with their pets privately before and after the euthanasia procedure, which lasts about 15 minutes. The vet only starts the euthanasia process when everyone is ready. This helps bring closure to all family members involved in the end-of-life care of a pet.

Benefits of In-home Pet Euthanasia include:

1. Compassion: In-home pet euthanasia allows for a more compassionate approach to end-of-life care. Pets can be surrounded by their loved ones, receive individual attention and care, and pass away peacefully in a familiar environment.
2. Comfort: One major benefit of in-home pet euthanasia is the comfort it provides to both the pet and their owners. The familiar surroundings of home can help reduce anxiety and stress for pets, making the process more peaceful. In addition, being surrounded by loved ones can provide a sense of support and comfort during a very difficult time.
3. Control: In-home pet euthanasia also allows pet owners to have more control over the experience. They can choose the time and place of the euthanasia, as well as who will be present. In addition, in-home euthanasia allows owners to personalize the experience, including choosing the location, music, lighting, and other factors that can make the experience more meaningful.
4. Closure: Being able to say goodbye in a meaningful way can be an essential part of the grieving process. In-home pet euthanasia allows for a more intimate farewell, which can provide closure and help with the healing process.

In-home Pet Euthanasia Costs

The starting price of in-home euthanasia starts at $300 in Baltimore. The aftercare and cremation price begins at $80 and varies depending on factors such as the driving distance, the pet's size, and the option for private or communal cremation.
