"The acquisition of Tower Heating, Air & Plumbing marks another exciting step in The Chill Brothers' growth strategy," said Neil Bhapkar, Head of Corporate Development at The Chill Brothers. "Tower has built a stellar reputation in North Carolina for dependable service and customer care, and we're proud to welcome Craig and his team into our family. This partnership strengthens our ability to deliver high-quality comfort solutions to more homeowners and tenants across the region, while continuing our mission to be the most trusted name in home services throughout the South."

This move is part of a larger strategic initiative by The Chill Brothers to extend their customer-first philosophy and innovative home service solutions to more families throughout the Southern United States.

"When considering the future of Tower Heating, Air & Plumbing, it was important to find a partner who shared our values and commitment to our employees and customers," said Craig Andes, owner of Tower Heating, Air & Plumbing. "The Chill Brothers are the right fit—they not only understand the importance of delivering exceptional service but also have the vision and resources to help us grow as part of a larger organization. We're excited to join their team and continue building something even greater together."

As part of its ongoing expansion strategy, The Chill Brothers is looking to partner with residential and commercial HVAC service businesses. Business owners interested in exploring opportunities are invited to visit www.thechillbrothers.com/for-owners for more information.
