

Dr. Jatali Bellanton Expands Her Impact with ESSENCE GU and Paris Fashion Week

Championing the Intersection of Wealth, Innovation, and Culture on Global Stages

NEW YORK, NY, UNITED STATES,
November 11, 2025 /

EINPresswire.com/ -- Dr. Jatali Bellanton took the stage during two landmark events that spotlighted the business behind fashion and the power of economic inclusion: The Building for Wealth Today for Tomorrow Summit and the highly anticipated Beyond the Runway

Experience, a new global platform redefining where creativity meets capital. Both events evolved into a powerful dialogue on ownership, wealth, and innovation, led in part by internationally renowned neuropsychologist, successful investor, entrepreneur, and financial strategist, Dr. Jatali.

This is about empowerment, strategy, and creating global pathways for creatives to thrive. True financial freedom begins when we learn to turn our creativity into ownership and make a lasting legacy.”

Dr. Jatali, Founder of Brilliant Minds Unite & Kids Who Bank

Beginning her journey in Chicago, Dr. Jatali took the stage at the GU Office Hours x Building Wealth Today for Tomorrow Summit hosted by City Treasurer Melissa Conyears-Ervin. The session, in partnership with ESSENCE GU, focused on guiding the next generation toward financial freedom, creative entrepreneurship, and equitable ownership. Dr. Jatali shared insights on the importance of cash and asset flow, shifting one’s mindset, and recognizing that “you are one idea away from becoming a multimillionaire.” Her message encouraged attendees to prioritize ownership, purpose, and strategic planning to achieve long-term success. The event drew a dynamic audience of Gen Z leaders, young professionals, and changemakers eager to build, invest, and sustain wealth in their own authentic way.

Immediately following her Chicago appearance, Dr. Jatali traveled to Paris to participate in Paris

Fashion Week, where she joined actress and model Eva Marcille for an inspiring conversation titled "Bridging Fashion, Finance & Culture." The panel went beyond the runway and investment banking world, as both women shared how they are evolving in their respective journeys. Marcille spoke about her transition into entrepreneurship, while Dr. Jatali discussed her creative ventures that align with her mission of global empowerment. Together, they led a transformative discussion on the intersection of creativity, business, and purpose, offering real-world insight into what it takes to build sustainable success. The dialogue covered vital topics, including protecting intellectual property, turning "no's" into wins, balancing motherhood and ambition, accessing global grants and artist-in-residency opportunities, perfecting one's craft before claiming a seat at the table, cooperative investing, and building the right team.

From New York to Chicago to Paris, Dr. Jatali continues to expand her influence on global platforms, advocating for economic empowerment and mental well-being through her signature initiative, Brilliant Minds Unite. Her presence at Paris Fashion Week underscores her commitment to bridging industries and inspiring the next generation of entrepreneurs to approach wealth with intention and strategy.
