What is winning, and why:

Heavy-body acrylics win with artists and decorators. Shoppers seek rich pigments and textured effects. Wall applications dominate as builders prioritize fade-resistant, moisture-proof coatings.

- Product leader: Heavy Body Acrylics hold 54.2% share via high viscosity, superior blending, and impasto techniques.

- Application leader: Walls claim 40.0% share from urban construction and renovation demand for vibrant, long-lasting finishes.

- Industry vertical leader: Building & Construction takes 47.4% share through infrastructure projects and low-VOC preferences.

Where to play:

E-commerce platforms expand distribution reach. Convenience stores stock DIY essentials. Focus channels on online growth and urban retail.

- India: 6.2% CAGR from DIY projects, upcycling, and home redesign trends.
- China: 4.7% CAGR via rapid urbanization and commercial building demand.
- Spain: 3.1% CAGR driven by art education in curricula.
- United States: 2.3% CAGR from recreational hobbies and self-care pursuits.
- Japan: 1.8% CAGR through eco-friendly, non-toxic product preferences.

What teams should do next

R&D

- Develop low-VOC formulations with enhanced adhesion for metal and ceramics.
- Test lightfastness improvements in heavy-body lines for professional artists.
- Innovate fluid acrylics for fabric applications.

Marketing & Sales

- Target DIY campaigns on e-commerce with bundle kits for home projects.
- Highlight eco-friendly certifications in building contractor pitches.
- Launch artist collaborations to boost heavy-body visibility.

Regulatory & QA

- Ensure compliance with stringent environmental standards for VOC limits.
- Certify products for moisture and crack resistance in wall uses.
- Monitor import/export stats for supply chain alignment.

Sourcing

- Secure pigment supplies for color retention in plant-based options.
- Partner with manufacturers for scalable heavy-body production.
- Diversify raw material sources amid regulatory pressures.

Three quick plays this quarter

- Launch eco-friendly wall paint trials in high-growth urban stores.
- Run targeted e-commerce ads for DIY acrylic kits this season.
- Sample heavy-body sets to art schools for curriculum integration.
