Built on a world-class payment orchestration layer, ZOQQ's platform empowers enterprises to scale globally through a unified, compliance-ready infrastructure. It simplifies the management of accounts, transactions, cards, and FX operations through intuitive web and mobile dashboards, while powerful APIs enable seamless integration into existing enterprise systems for truly connected global finance.

Driven by visionaries Avishek Singh, Sanjit Ghanti, and Gitesh Athavale, ZOQQ is redefining financial connectivity - merging next-generation fintech architecture with enterprise-grade compliance. The evolved platform delivers the speed of fintech with the trust of banking, empowering seamless global operations at scale.

"Global finance has long been fragmented, complex, and slow to evolve," said Avishek Singh, Co-founder of ZOQQ. "At ZOQQ, we set out to change that - to make financial access as seamless and instant as communication. Our platform bridges the gap between technology and trust, enabling businesses to operate globally with the same ease and confidence as they do locally."

Gitesh Athavale, Co-founder of ZOQQ, added: "We're uniting technology, compliance, and scalability to make global financial operations as effortless as local ones - fast, transparent, and truly borderless. With our advanced infrastructure and orchestration framework, ZOQQ enables enterprises to expand confidently across multiple jurisdictions while maintaining full visibility and control. This revamp embodies our ongoing commitment to innovation, reliability, and trust."

A Comprehensive Suite of Global Financial Tools

ZOQQ's refreshed offering introduces a complete portfolio of cross-border financial solutions built for speed, scalability, and compliance, empowering enterprises, fintechs, and digital businesses to operate effortlessly across markets:
