LOS ANGELES, CA, UNITED STATES,

EINPresswire.com/ -- For more than eight decades, Ray Foster Dental

Equipment has stood as the gold standard of American dental craftsmanship. Founded in 1938, the company's name has become synonymous with durability, precision, and trust, a legacy built in California and respected across the world.

In today's fast-paced dental industry, we're still customer-centric and always just one phone call away. When you call, I'll pick up. That's the Ray Foster way.”

Sam Elias, Director of Sales Operations

Today, that legacy continues into the digital age as Ray Foster unveils its updated online platform, FosterDental.com, a modern gateway designed to bring dental professionals, distributors, and institutions closer to the Ray Foster Family than ever before. The enhanced website reflects the company's evolution: honoring its roots while embracing the convenience and connectivity expected in today's marketplace.

From model trimmers and alloy grinders to dust collectors and polishing lathes, each piece of equipment is engineered and assembled in-house at Ray Foster's Southern California facility. These machines are built not for years, but for decades, precision tools that embody balance, strength, and reliability.

“Every piece of equipment that leaves our factory represents decades of refinement,” Elias said.

“Our customers tell us they've used the same trimmer for thirty years, and that's exactly what we aim for: reliability that endures.”

The enhanced digital platform also strengthens how Ray Foster serves its dealer network and global partners, simplifying access to product information, support resources, and customer communication, all while preserving the personalized service that has defined the brand since its founding.

“After more than eight decades, our core promise hasn’t changed,” Elias concluded. “We build American-made tools for people who take pride in their craft. Now, with our updated online platform, we’re bringing that legacy closer to every lab and clinic around the world.”

“Ray Foster has always stood for more than equipment, it stands for trust, tradition, and American innovation,” added George K. of Ray Foster Dental. “This modernization reinforces our commitment to the distributors, educators, and professionals who form the backbone of our success.”

To celebrate this milestone, Ray Foster Dental is offering an exclusive 10% off all online orders with code BLACK10 through November 30, 2025.
