The winning video, produced in collaboration with Secret Weapon Media Agency of Madison, Alabama, received top honors in both the Low Budget and General Automotive categories. These awards mark a major milestone for the dealership, which continues to grow its reputation as one of the most customer-focused and community-minded RV centers in the Midwest.

We take pride in doing things the right way, from the way we treat our customers to how we represent our brand. To have our story recognized on a national level is a real honor.”

National Recognition for Local Excellence

The Davey Awards, now in its 21st year, celebrate the “big ideas” from small teams that deliver exceptional impact. Overseen by the Academy of Interactive and Visual Arts (AIVA), an organization comprised of leaders from National Geographic, NASA's Jet Propulsion Laboratory, Netflix, and the PGA TOUR - the Davey Awards recognize creative excellence across categories such as video, advertising, design, social media, and emerging technology.

Only a small percentage of entries receive gold or silver honors, placing Stellhorn RV among an elite group of businesses recognized for exceptional marketing and storytelling.

“This award means a lot to all of us at Stellhorn RV,” said Doug Stellhorn, Owner of Stellhorn RV & Camping Center. “We take pride in doing things the right way, from the way we treat our customers to how we represent our brand. To have our story recognized on a national level is a real honor.”
