Reliability, Lifelong Learning, and Authentic Connections in a
Fast-Evolving Care Landscape

Influential Women welcomes Makayla Munch, a Lead Account Executive based in Orlando, Florida, Makayla is a driving force behind nationwide growth in the healthcare staffing sector. Known for her commitment to building lasting client partnerships, she collaborates closely with healthcare facilities to understand their unique staffing priorities, delivering solutions that yield tangible results.

With a robust background in account management and business development, Makayla has made a mark in the healthcare industry as a trusted advisor. Her expertise in sales, territory management, and client relations has empowered organizations to meet their critical staffing demands effectively. Renowned for her precision and client-specific strategies, Makayla has played a pivotal role in enhancing healthcare systems and supporting the professionals who deliver patient care across the nation.

Makayla holds an Associate's Degree in Public Relations, Advertising, and Applied Communication from Seminole State College of Florida and is an active member of Phi Theta Kappa. This strong academic foundation, coupled with her hands-on experience, has positioned her as a leader in her field. She is deeply passionate about connecting people with opportunities, and her commitment to making a measurable difference is evident in her work.

Reflecting on her journey, Makayla attributes her success to perseverance, lifelong learning, and adaptability. "I believe in showing up, keeping my word, and remaining committed, even when faced with challenges,” she says. Her natural curiosity drives her to ask thoughtful questions, enabling her to truly understand the needs of her clients. She emphasizes kindness and calmness under pressure, believing that treating people with respect fosters optimal performance.

Makayla’s professional philosophy is encapsulated in the career advice she holds dear: “Control the controllables.” This mantra has taught her to focus on her effort, attitude, and preparation, rather than worrying about factors beyond her influence.

To young women entering her field, Makayla offers invaluable guidance: “Trust that you belong, even while learning. Ask questions freely, and seek mentors or peers who provide honest guidance.” She underscores the importance of owning mistakes and learning from them, encouraging others to stay open to new experiences.

Makayla recognizes the challenges of navigating constant change in the healthcare landscape but also sees immense opportunity in the work she does. Her values of kindness, growth, and transparency guide her interactions, both professionally and personally. She aims to be reliable, leaving every interaction better than she found it while continually seeking to learn about her work and herself.

Outside of her professional life, Makayla finds joy in simple pleasures that help her recharge. Whether it’s enjoying a good cup of coffee, listening to music, catching a flight to a new destination, or spending time with friends and family, she balances the fast pace of her career with grounding and fun experiences.
