The series debuted with six beautifully illustrated titles — The Best of America, The Best of Christmas, The Best of Life Vol. 1, The Best of Fun Vol. 3, The Best of Colors and Shapes Vol. 4, and My Coloring Book Is The Best. Each title offers something unique for young readers while staying true to the brand's core mission: to inspire joy, imagination, and family connection through reading together.

“These stories are meant to bring families closer,” says author J R Philp. “Every book in The Best of Books series has a heartbeat - one that celebrates creativity, kindness, and the simple magic of learning together.”

Stories That Teach and Inspire

From patriotic pride to seasonal wonder, The Best of Books embraces a wide range of uplifting themes. The Best of America helps children appreciate heritage and community through vivid imagery and simple storytelling. The Best of Christmas reminds readers of generosity and joy.

The Best of Life and The Best of Fun spark curiosity and laughter, encouraging gratitude and friendship. The Best of Colors and Shapes introduces early learners to creative thinking through art and pattern. And My Coloring Book Is The Best brings it all together - inviting children to interact directly with the world of The Best of Books through coloring and artistic play.

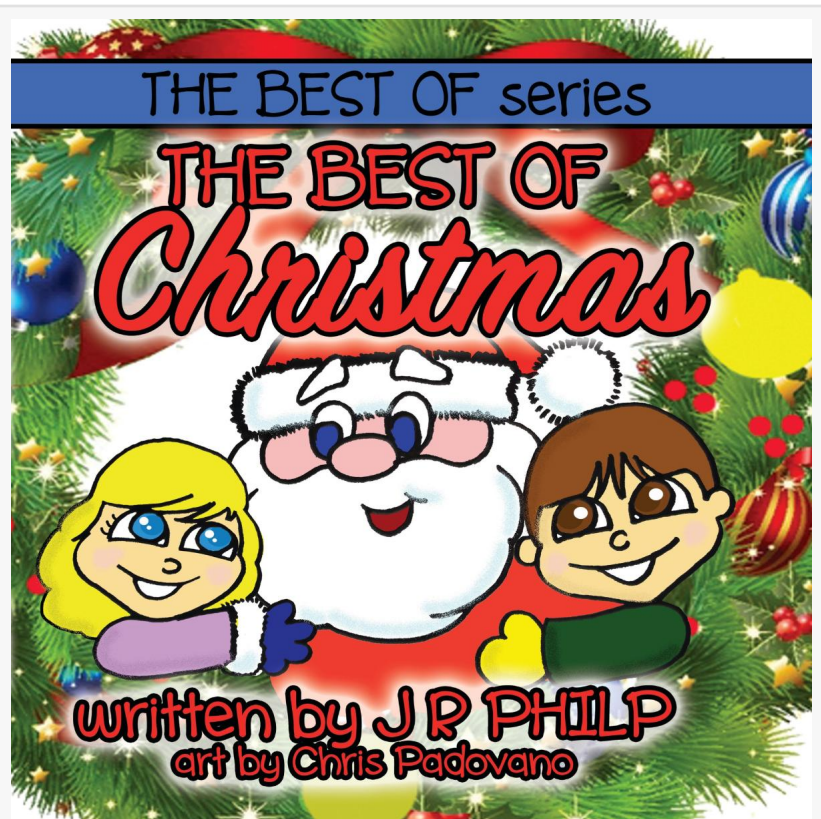

Every story blends visual charm with thoughtful lessons. Philp's writing makes values like gratitude, kindness, and curiosity approachable for children, while keeping parents engaged and inspired to share the experience.

A Family-Friendly Mission

Behind the series is Seibro Inc., a Tampa-based digital publisher founded by Donald J. Brown, whose decades of experience in creative media and author development have shaped The Best of Books into a complete reading experience. Seibro's mission is simple — to produce stories that parents can trust, children will love, and educators can use to encourage reading as a shared joy.

"We wanted to create something bright, wholesome, and lasting," Brown explains. "Stories that strengthen imagination while teaching respect, honesty, and hope."

Future plans include expanded print runs, interactive e-books, and classroom activity versions designed to

Building a Brand That Grows With Readers

Beyond the printed page, The Best of Books is steadily growing into a full family-friendly platform. The official website - <https://thebestofbooks.com> - offers previews, activity downloads, and behind-the-scenes features. Families can browse sample pages, enjoy coloring sheets from My Coloring Book Is The Best, and stay updated on new releases.

The online Media Page showcases the latest press announcements, author interviews, and creative highlights, while social channels introduce short videos, book spreads, and updates that help parents discover new favorites.

Faith and Values in Every Page

The Best of Books reflects a foundation of timeless, faith-friendly values. Its stories emphasize compassion, gratitude, and integrity — ideals that transcend generations.

“Good stories help shape good hearts,” Philp says. “When families read together, they don’t just learn new words - they share new worlds.”

That philosophy has already struck a chord with families across Florida and beyond. Early readers describe the series as “wholesome,” “beautifully illustrated,” and “exactly what today’s children need.”

Distribution and Future Plans

All six titles in The Best of Books - including My Coloring Book Is The Best - are available in print and digital editions through Amazon, IngramSpark, and leading online retailers. New projects in development include The Best of Books Club, a digital platform with creative challenges, free printables, and exclusive book previews.

“Our long-term goal is to see The Best of Books sitting next to the timeless classics,” Brown adds. “Books that parents grew up with - and now want to share with their own children.”
