

Veracity Forensics and eDiscovery Today Announce Educational Partnership

Veracity Forensics & eDiscovery Today to educate industry professionals on best practices & solutions for litigation, investigation & other legal disputes.

DALLAS, TX, UNITED STATES, November

13, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Veracity Forensics, a premier provider of digital forensic and internal investigations, expert witness testimony, and data collections, today announced a new educational partnership with Doug Austin's eDiscovery Today, the only daily blog for electronic discovery, information governance, cybersecurity, data privacy and artificial intelligence trends, best practices and case law.

Veracity is excited about partnering with eDiscovery Today and we believe partnering with eDiscovery Today communicates our commitment to serve the eDiscovery community.”

*Chip Koons, CEO of Veracity
Forensics*

This collaboration enables Veracity Forensics and eDiscovery Today to work together to educate industry professionals on best practices and solutions for navigating today's evolving landscape of digital evidence to support litigation, investigation and other legal disputes needs.

“Veracity is excited about partnering with eDiscovery Today and supporting the eDiscovery community”, said Chip Koons, CEO of Veracity Forensics. “As a digital forensic investigation firm, our team understands a solid foundation of defensibility is paramount to all legal matters. At Veracity, we have the experience, resources, and people to build that solid foundation, whether for our forensic investigation projects, or to support our law firm and eDiscovery partners. We believe partnering with eDiscovery Today communicates our commitment to serve the eDiscovery community.”

“In today's modern data world, understanding how to maintain the integrity of digital evidence has never been more important, nor has it ever been more complex” said Doug Austin, Editor of eDiscovery Today. “I'm excited to be working with the Veracity Forensics team to educate legal and eDiscovery professionals on proven methods and best practices for forensic preservation, collection and analysis of digital evidence!”
