

Jatheon Adds YouTube Capture and Archiving to Cloud Platform

Jatheon, a tech company, announced the release of YouTube capture and archiving on Jatheon Cloud, their flagship platform.

TORONTO, ONTARIO, CANADA,

November 14, 2025 /

EINPresswire.com/ -- As social-media platforms increasingly serve as public-facing communications channels, regulatory agencies and oversight authorities require business-related YouTube content to be retained and searchable for multi-year periods.

Jatheon's new YouTube connector ensures organizations can capture video titles, descriptions, URLs, comments and replies — all within a unified archiving environment.

"Organizations' public video footprints are growing exponentially. With the new YouTube connector, we are giving enterprises a purpose-built tool to capture and safeguard their YouTube presence for compliance, litigation readiness and operational resilience," said Jelena Popovic, Product Owner at Jatheon.

YouTube content is increasingly considered electronically stored information, and as such, is subject to legal hold, FOIA, and various public agency transparency requirements.

By adding YouTube to its growing list of supported data connectors, Jatheon continues to expand its AI-enabled archiving ecosystem, providing organizations with complete visibility, risk reduction, and simplified compliance management across all communication channels.
