EINPresswire.com/ -- UAE-based Mira Developments brought together more than 320 international professionals from the real estate, fashion, architecture, and investment sectors for an exclusive three-day retreat in Georgia's capital. The program paired strategic sessions with immersive cultural experiences.

A central highlight was the presentation of Mira Verde at Tbilisi Hills – Georgia's first branded master community, set on rolling green landscapes just ten minutes from central Tbilisi. With an international-standard 18-hole golf course, villas, townhouses and residences overlooking the city, and a masterplan blending nature with modern living, the project is positioned to become the country's premier luxury community.

The development introduces a complete lifestyle ecosystem: cafés and restaurants, a wellness centre, luxury retail, office spaces, a European school, a kindergarten, and even an AI university, all framed by panoramic views of the capital. Inside, residents will enjoy fully furnished residences with hotel-style services including housekeeping, concierge, valet parking, in-room dining, and 24/7 security, alongside short- and long-term rental management. The project's scale reflects its ambition – 600 apartments, 104 villas, and 80 townhouses.

Alongside site visits, participants took part in open discussions on local market potential, the scarcity of branded living in the region, and the role of the natural environment in shaping future developments.

Beyond the professional agenda, the retreat offered an authentic introduction to Georgia's traditions: a walking tour of the Old City, a Georgian food workshop, and gala evenings celebrating the country's renowned hospitality.

“Walking the Old City, talking to people, standing on the slope where Tbilisi Hills will rise – that fuels ambition better than any report,” said Timur Mamaikhanov, Co-Founder and CEO of Mira Developments. “We arrived with plans and leave with a promise: to balance the vision of Mira Verde with the beauty of the local landscape and the soul of the living city around it.”

This was Mira Developments' second international mastermind retreat, following a 100-guest gathering in Salalah, Oman. Both events play a crucial role in the company's global expansion strategy, reinforcing its reputation for luxurious, branded, fully furnished residential projects in new markets.
