the tools to make informed decisions quickly, while giving lenders a sophisticated, automated channel to reach highly engaged real estate investors.

"Think Realty is delivering something genuinely powerful with this marketplace," said Sam Kaddah, CEO of Liquid Logics. "By combining our advanced LOS technology, AI technology, best execution eligibility and pricing with the Think Realty Marketplace powered by Liquid Logics, we're streamlining the entire lending experience. Investors can price deals instantly across multiple lenders, and lenders gain access to a high-quality, ready-to-transact audience. It's a win for everyone involved."

A Natural Alignment of Vision, Values, and Innovation

Think Realty, known for its commitment to education, transparency, and elevating the real estate investment community, sees this partnership as both strategic and values-driven.

"We are beyond excited to begin this exclusive partnership with Sam Kaddah and Liquid Logics!" said Scott Ward, CEO of Think Realty. "As we are both obsessed with client success and improving our overall industry, this is just a perfect fit for all. We see this as a long-term relationship that creates nonstop solutions as the market continues to grow and reach more people. We will continue to educate and create new streamlined systems to meet clients where they are. Ethics is the cornerstone of both of our companies, so this is such a natural fit."
