

Livia by Xianghan Wang, Jing Yao, and Rui Xi Wins Silver in A' Digital Product Design Award

Innovative AI Companion Recognized for Redefining Digital Emotional Support and Addressing Global Loneliness

COMO, CO, ITALY, November 19, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- The A' Design Award, a highly respected and well-recognized competition in the field of digital product design, has announced Livia by Xianghan Wang, Jing Yao, and Rui Xi as the Silver Award winner in the Digital Product Design category. This prestigious recognition highlights the significance of Livia's innovative approach to addressing global loneliness and enhancing emotional well-being through AI-driven companionship.

Livia's Silver A' Digital Product Design Award is particularly relevant in today's world, where nearly one in four people worldwide experience loneliness. By offering a personalized, always-accessible companion that uses memory systems and mood tracking to build meaningful connections, Livia provides a judgment-free space for users to process emotions and feel understood. This recognition underscores the importance of designing digital products that prioritize user well-being and foster genuine emotional support.

Livia stands out in the market by combining advanced AI technologies, such as natural language processing, memory systems, and emotion recognition algorithms, with an intuitive user interface. The design process incorporated iterative testing and user feedback to create a lifelike companion that remembers user experiences, initiates conversations, and evolves over time. Integrated AR functionality and seamless multi-device integration further enhance the immersive and accessible user experience.

The Silver A' Digital Product Design Award serves as a testament to the potential of Livia to inspire future designs and influence industry standards in the realm of AI-driven emotional support. This recognition motivates the Livia team to continue pushing the boundaries of digital companionship, leveraging technology to foster meaningful connections and enhance user well-being.

Livia was designed by Xianghan Wang, an award-winning XR/Motion Designer at Apple known for crafting immersive experiences; Jing Yao, a product designer focused on transforming healthcare experiences through intuitive, user-centered design; and Rui Xi, a product creator and serial entrepreneur passionate about emotionally resonant AI.
