Interstate Advanced Materials Hayward

Founded in Sacramento in 1980, Interstate Advanced Materials helped local industries grow by supplying reliable, high-performance materials. Today, the company continues that mission for the Bay Area through its Hayward Solution Center, supplying engineering plastics and composite materials and offering machining services that shorten lead times and control costs. The Hayward team provides cut-to-size, fabrication, custom components, and routing, backed by a service model focused on accuracy and lead-time reduction.

Interstate Advanced Materials Hayward serves the Bay Area's core sectors, including semiconductor, food processing, automotive, and general manufacturing. Customers benefit from fast fulfillment, wholesale pricing programs, and industrial-grade materials that improve equipment reliability, minimize wear, and streamline maintenance.

Aligned with Interstate Advanced Materials' mission to be the most trusted distributor of advanced materials, the Hayward Solution Center pairs deep product knowledge with responsive service. The team brings decades of combined experience in plastics and composites, helping manufacturers, engineers, and procurement specialists select the right materials for demanding applications.

We combine extensive inventory, precision machining capabilities, and project support so local businesses can manage their costs and grow with confidence.”
