

Advances in Inflammatory Bowel Diseases (AIBD) 2025 to Deliver the Latest Science, Clinical Strategies

The premier educational meeting for IBD professionals will unite national experts to share research, best practices, and innovations, December 8-10 in Orlando.

MALVERN, PA, UNITED STATES,
November 19, 2025 /

EINPresswire.com/ -- Clinicians treating patients with Crohn's disease and ulcerative colitis will gain new tools, research insights, and practical strategies to improve outcomes at Advances in Inflammatory Bowel Diseases (AIBD) 2025, taking place December 8-10 at the Walt Disney Dolphin Resort in Orlando. Produced by HMP Global, AIBD is the leading educational meeting for inflammatory bowel disease professionals worldwide, combining evidence-based updates with real-world application and multidisciplinary collaboration.

The 2025 program emphasizes translating cutting-edge science into actionable clinical strategies that directly impact treatment decisions and patient outcomes.

What is Advances in IBD (AIBD)?

Attendees leave AIBD 2025 with new strategies, connections, and confidence to make a measurable difference in their patients' lives.”

Co-Chair Corey Siegel, MD, MS

Advances in Inflammatory Bowel Diseases (AIBD) is the foremost annual forum for gastroenterologists, surgeons, nurses, pharmacists, advanced practice providers, and researchers committed to advancing patient care in IBD. The 2025 program emphasizes translating cutting-edge science into actionable clinical strategies that directly impact treatment decisions and patient outcomes.

Key Benefits and Program Highlights
