

New Guidebook Empowers Entrepreneurs to Grow Without Burnout

Kelly Lorenzen Provides Practical Strategies to Help Small Business Owners Succeed in Her Latest Release

PHOENIX, AZ, UNITED STATES, January 21, 2026

/EINPresswire.com/ -- A new resource is now available for entrepreneurs looking to simplify and scale their businesses while avoiding burnout. "Do What You Love and Outsource Everything Else®", a 148-page guidebook by Kelly Lorenzen, PMP, offers insights drawn from two decades of experience as an entrepreneur, CEO, and philanthropist. Lorenzen's work focuses on supporting small and family-owned businesses through actionable strategies and tools for sustainable growth.

The book emphasizes the importance of confident delegation, effective systems, and a clear roadmap for business owners who may feel overwhelmed or stretched thin. Lorenzen's personal experiences, including navigating challenges like health setbacks and professional rebuilds, serve as the foundation for the practical advice she shares.

"Do What You Love and Outsource Everything Else®" aims to empower readers to build brands that resonate, streamline operations, and create systems to protect their time and energy. The book includes step-by-step exercises at the end of each chapter to help readers immediately implement what they learn, offering a path forward for entrepreneurs at any stage - whether launching, scaling, or rebuilding.

Inside, readers will learn how to:

- Build a brand that actually sounds like you and resonates with the right customers.
- Streamline marketing that works on repeat.
- Delegate with confidence, without losing control or quality.
- Create systems that run when you can't, so you can protect your time and energy.
