We understand that dental implants are an investment, and our patients deserve all the benefits of making that choice.”

Dr. Alex Rabinovich

Dental Implant Center, a top dental implant practice located in San Francisco, is proud to announce a new blog post comparing dental implants with dentures as well as the impact on a travel-focused lifestyle. The new post emphasizes how active, healthy people want smiles that match. The real insight is that busy travelers will benefit from the hassle-free experience of dental implants over dentures.

"We understand that dental implants are an investment, and our patients deserve all the benefits of making that choice. A big advantage to going this route is that they don't have to worry about doing the 'extra steps' dentures require," commented Dr. Alex Rabinovich of San Francisco Dental Implants. "As long as they practice normal, healthy oral care like brushing, flossing, and rinsing, they are good to go, including when traveling."

The new content comparing dental implants vs. dentures can be reviewed at <https://www.sfdentalimplants.com/blog/for-bay-area-folks-on-the-go-choosing-dental-implants-vs-dentures-the-choice-isnt-even-close/>. Dental implants bring chewing ability back up to 95% of that of a normal mouth, according to studies. By comparison, dentures can only restore healthy chewing function to 30%. By chewing, dental implants can maintain bone health. In contrast, dentures are reported to have no effect on bone loss whatsoever, and new teeth that stand in place of lost ones don't even stop this from occurring. An example might even be a single tooth; fortunately, SFDIC offers single tooth replacements as well (<https://www.sfdentalimplants.com/single-tooth/>). Any patient who is interested in learning about dental implants should reach out for a free consultation with Dr. Rabinovich, as each patient is unique.

San Francisco residents can be time-sensitive. They travel frequently. They commute to work, appear on Zoom sessions, and have lots of reasons to care about their appearance. The convenience of dental implants is one of the features brought out in the new post as compared with dentures. Not only do they look better, but they do not need to be taken out daily. Once they're in, they essentially function as "real teeth." An example can be traveling. Here, the traveler sees the advantage of dental implants over dentures. There is nothing to pack. No chemicals are needed, and they do not need to be taken out for special cleaning. In this way, busy travelers will prefer dental implants to dentures. And none of this has to do with the greater beauty of implants over traditional dentures. Only dental implants can pass the 'travel-friendly' test for a globe-trotter.
