

NO MORE AND CPI HOST GLOBAL LIVESTREAM TO MARK INTERNATIONAL DAY FOR THE ELIMINATION OF VIOLENCE AGAINST WOMEN

EVAW Day Event to Raise Awareness and Funds in the Wake of Cuts to Critical Services for Survivors of Abuse

LONDON, UNITED KINGDOM, November 24, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- On Tuesday, November 25th, NO MORE and the Centre for Public Impact (CPI) are hosting a special, five-hour global livestream to commemorate the International Day for the Elimination of Violence Against Women (EVAW Day). In honor of the Epstein victims and all women worldwide who experience domestic and sexual violence, the EVAW Day event will unite people from across the world to inspire, mobilize and create action to help save lives and prevent abuse. According to a new, landmark report from the World Health Organization and UN partners, in the last 12 months alone, 316 million women were subjected to physical or sexual violence by an intimate partner.

The global livestream will also serve as a benefit for the newly created EVAW Day Relief Fund, which will provide grants to community nonprofit organizations hardest hit by recent government funding cuts. These charities are the lifeline for victims of abuse, providing housing, legal counseling, mental health care, and other critical services. Yet, in a recent NO MORE survey, 80% of U.S. organizations said that their ability to deliver services has been impacted by funding restrictions and reductions. During the livestream, viewers will be asked to donate $1 or more to help make a difference.

Starting at 3pm GMT/10am ET, the livestream will include insightful panels, interviews, live performances and personal messages that offer hope and inspiration for victims of violence and highlight promising efforts being made worldwide to end violence against women.

The powerful lineup of speakers includes:

- Jess Asato, Member of UK Parliament
