

Her Highness Announces EAA'S Silatech Reached 5 Million Beneficiaries

DOHA, QATAR, November 25, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Her Highness Sheikha Moza bint Nasser, Chairperson of Education Above All Foundation (EAA), announced today that Silatech — a program under EAA Foundation — has surpassed its 2019 pledge to provide five million job opportunities for beneficiaries. Her Highness made the announcement during her speech at the EAA Plenary entitled “Everything Begins with Education: Pathways to Opportunity” during the WISE 12 Summit at the Qatar National Convention Centre.

Her Highness stated: “Today, I am proud to announce that the Silatech has surpassed its contractual commitments, reaching over five million beneficiaries. This achievement was made possible by our unwavering belief in our mission, the tireless dedication of our partners, and the resilience of the communities we serve.”

Her Highness concluded her speech by emphasizing the need to reduce the unemployment rate stating: “I urge us not to limit our ambition to the milestone of five million beneficiaries.” Her Highness took the opportunity to renew the call for collective action to reduce the unemployment rates and encourage all who can
