

Ooredoo Qatar and LigaData Build Trusted Data Foundations for AI Innovation

DOHA, QATAR, November 26, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- At MWC Doha 2025, Ooredoo Qatar announced it has launched Phase 2 of its Data Governance Programme in collaboration with LigaData, advancing Ooredoo Qatar's mission to build a trusted, AI-ready data foundation. Following the successful completion of Phase 1, which established the Ooredoo Qatar Data Governance Council, the new phase will deliver enterprise-wide capabilities that strengthen trust, transparency, and data-driven decision-making. Phase 2 introduces a unified Business Glossary and Data Catalog—creating a single source of truth across the organization—along with a modern Data Governance Platform that will serve as the backbone for policy management and collaboration. An AI-powered Policy Agent will also launch soon to make data policies easier to access and understand across teams.

This next phase will help us build stronger foundations for data trust, accessibility, and AI-driven innovation across the organization.”

“We are proud to continue our partnership with LigaData as we advance our data governance journey,” said Fatimh Al-Jaber, Assistant Director, AI and Data Governance at Ooredoo Qatar. “This next phase will help us build stronger foundations for data trust, accessibility, and AI-driven innovation across the organization.”

“Our collaboration with Ooredoo Qatar reflects a shared vision for data-driven innovation,” said Khaled Jaouni, LigaData's Chief Operating Officer. “Through advanced data governance and AI enablement, we're helping transform how organizations manage, understand, and unlock value from their data.”

The collaboration forms part of Ooredoo Qatar's broader digital transformation strategy, supported by LigaData's expertise in data governance, AI enablement, and enterprise data platforms.
