Critical Obstacles Slowing Cloud Transformation in the U.S.

Despite significant cloud investment, U.S. enterprises often fail to achieve expected efficiency gains. The coexistence of multiple cloud providers, legacy systems, and growing data volumes creates a fragmented operational landscape. As companies strive for innovation, they are forced to navigate challenges in cost management, compliance, and skilled resource allocation.

- Fragmented architectures leading to poor visibility and governance control.
- Security gaps emerging from complex multi-cloud configurations.
- Cloud cost overruns driven by inadequate monitoring and budget control.
- Difficult integrations between on-premise and cloud-based environments.
- Limited workforce expertise reducing system reliability and scalability.
- Constantly evolving compliance demands increasing administrative burden.

The IBN Tech Advantage

Leveraging its role as a Microsoft Cloud Managed Services Partner, IBN Tech combines in-depth Azure expertise with a results-oriented approach. We enable enterprises to move to Azure with precision, monitor expenditures, and fully harness the platform's advanced capabilities for growth and innovation through robust cloud management solutions.

Making Azure Work for You

Azure is known for its hybrid deployment options, enterprise-grade security, and strong global compliance posture. Yet, without structured management, organizations risk cost inefficiency and underutilization. IBN Tech helps clients overcome these hurdles by guiding them to:

- Match workloads with the right Azure resources and pricing models
- Save through hybrid licensing and reserved capacity
