What Are The Core Growth Drivers Shaping The Future Of The Wooden Household Furniture Market?

The Business
Research Company

The Business Research Company

The growth of the wooden household furniture market is anticipated to be driven by the escalating demand from the residential sector. This increased interest is a result of the growing global population and urbanization, which are in turn spurring the construction of more residences and subsequently boosting the need for furniture. Wooden household furniture is favoured by many homeowners for its long-lasting nature, adaptability, and visual appeal. For example, the United States Census Bureau, a leading statistical organization based in the US, reported in October 2023 that the amount of privately owned housing units approved by construction permits in February stood at 1,524,000 on a seasonally adjusted yearly basis. This figure represents an increase of 13.8% over the January rate, which was revised to 1,339,000. Consequently, the escalating demand from the residential sector is fuelling the expansion of the wooden household furniture market.

Which Companies Are Currently Leading In The Wooden Household Furniture Market?

Major players in the Wooden Household Furniture include:

- Inter IKEA Systems B.V.
- Godrej & Boyce Mfg. Co. Ltd.
- Herman Miller Inc.

What Are The Main Trends, Positively Impacting The Growth Of Wooden Household Furniture Market?

The trend towards product innovation is becoming increasingly prominent in the wooden household furniture industry. With the surge in environmental concerns, many consumers are demanding that their wooden furniture be produced using environmentally-friendly production methods and sustainably sourced materials. Consequently, key players in the market are concentrating on creating green and sustainably-designed wooden furniture. For instance, Silk & Snow, a bedding firm based in Canada, debuted a sustainable furniture range for bedrooms in January 2022. Handcrafted with organic, non-toxic ingredients, this collection is assembled using a straightforward, tool-less Japanese joinery method.
