

Tahaluf and Saudi Water Authority Partner to Deliver IDWS 2025, Driving Global Water Innovation

RIYADH, SAUDI ARABIA, December 1, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- The Saudi Water Authority (SWA) and Tahaluf have announced an agreement to co-organise the 2025 edition of the Innovation-Driven Water Sustainability Conference (IDWS), reinforcing the Kingdom's position as a global hub for water innovation and sustainability, bringing together experts, innovators, and policymakers in the water sector.

Held under the patronage of His Royal Highness Prince Khalid Al-Faisal, Advisor to the Custodian of the Two Holy Mosques and Governor of Makkah Region, IDWS 2025 represents a strategic platform for advancing practical solutions to global water challenges. This collaboration reflects growing international confidence in Saudi Arabia's leadership and its commitment to shaping the future of water sustainability.

Since its inception in 2022, IDWS has grown year after year, attracting participants from more than 40 countries. The 2025 edition marks a significant expansion, with registrations expected to exceed 5,000 participants from over 120 countries, underscoring the conference's impact as a leading global forum for innovation and dialogue.

Driving Global Water Innovation

The conference will feature an expanded program of global speakers, interactive hackathons (Miyahthon), the Global Prize for Innovation in Water (GPIW), and a dynamic exhibition showcasing next-generation water solutions. In addition, IDWS will host leading global and local brands, including Siemens, ABB, Toray, Tasnee Oman, TOYOBO MC Middle East Industries, National Water Company, LCGPA, KSB, Rawafid Industrial, and Kindasa—representing the full spectrum of innovation from advanced desalination technologies to AI-powered utilities, circular economy applications, and next-generation water solutions.

Tahaluf reaffirmed its commitment to delivering an exceptional edition of IDWS 2025 in partnership with the Saudi Water Authority, a unique initiative that strengthens Saudi Arabia's role as a center for innovation and sustainability in this vital sector.

Annabelle Mander, Executive Vice President at Tahaluf, stated: "We are honored to partner with the Saudi Water Authority to advance the Innovation-Driven Water Sustainability Conference. This collaboration reflects our shared vision of positioning Saudi Arabia at the forefront of global water innovation. Together, we aim to create an unparalleled platform that drives meaningful dialogue and solutions in water sustainability."
