How Large Will The Professional Golf Market Be By 2025?

In the past few years, the size of the professional golf market has experienced significant growth.

The Business Research Company's Latest Report Explores Market Driver, Trends, Regional Insights - Market Sizing & Forecasts Through 2034"

The Business Research Company

The market, which is projected to increase from $5.14 billion in 2024 to $5.43 billion in 2025, will do so at a compound annual growth rate (CAGR) of 5.7%. Reasons for this growth in the historical period include the increasing popularity of professional tournaments, the rising involvement of international players, the expansion of sponsorship and endorsement deals, the growing sway of star golfers, and the surging globalization of professional golf circuits.

The expected expansion of the professional golf market in the upcoming years looks robust, projected to reach $6.69 billion by 2029, at a compound annual growth rate (CAGR) of 5.3%. The increase during the forecast period is due to growing golf participation rates, an uptick in professional competitions and sponsorship contracts, progressive breakthroughs in golf technology, expanded use of smart golf technologies, and the increased attention from the younger generation, in conjunction with increased career prospects in the sport. Key trends for the forecast period encompass advancements in golf simulation technology, sophisticated sensor-based performance observation, development of environmentally friendly golf gear, automation in tournament bureaucracy, and incorporation of virtual reality to enhance fan engagement.

What Are The Major Driving Forces Influencing The Professional Golf Market Landscape?

Boost in leisure activities is anticipated to fuel the expansion of the professional golf industry in the future. Leisure activities consist of hobbies or pursuits that individuals participate in during their spare time for pleasure, rest, and personal wellbeing, encompassing sports, outdoor expeditions, arts, games, and other entertainment forms that foster physical, mental, and social health. With the growing awareness of physical and mental health, leisure activities are on the rise, motivating more individuals to engage in activities that encourage a healthier lifestyle. Professional golf contributes to these leisure activities by stimulating public interest in the sport and motivating people to partake in golfing and other leisure pursuits that improve physical fitness and social involvement. For example, in November 2024, a report by the Outdoor Recreation Roundtable (ORR), a U.S. Coalition of outdoor recreation trade associations, revealed that in 2023, outdoor recreation contributed $1.2 trillion to the U.S. economy, accounting for 2.3% of GDP, employing 3.1% of the country's workforce, and upholding 5 million jobs. Consequently, the escalation of recreational activities is spurring the growth of the professional golf industry.

What Are The Top Trends In The Professional Golf Industry?

Key players in the pro-golf sphere have concentrated their efforts on creating innovative products like the ultra-thin cast urethane covers, purposed towards improving control of the ball, its spin efficacy, durability, and consistent long-distance performance for professional golfers. The ultra-thin cast urethane cover denotes a robust and flexible exterior utilized in superior golf balls, intended to elevate spin control, durability, improving short-game shots, and maintaining long-drive distance while creating a soft touch. In September 2025, for instance, Tour Edge Golf Manufacturing, Inc., a US-based sports gear production firm, initiated the launch of a spectacular new golf ball that spotlighted breakthrough technology aimed at enhancing distance, control, and overall performance. The objective of the launch lies in providing tour-quality products at an attainable price, attractive to both professional and amateur golfers. The ball is drafted to maximise aerodynamics and spin control through cutting-edge designs in the core, cover material, and dimple pattern.
