assess its adherence to evidence-based care standards established by leading healthcare experts and nationally recognized organizations. This thorough survey process involved an in-depth review of medical documentation, direct observation of patient care, interviews with the hospital's rehabilitation team and hospital leadership, and patient interviews at the rehabilitation hospital.

“We are extremely proud of Orlando Rehabilitation Hospital for achieving these distinguished designations as a Center of Excellence in both medical rehabilitation services and stroke care,” said Chris Bergh, COO of Nobis.

“Our mission is to be the premier medical rehabilitation leader in every community we serve. Achieving this Center of Excellence designation affirms the outstanding work our hospital teams commit to every day.”

Orlando Rehabilitation Hospital is a 3-story, 60-bed inpatient rehabilitation hospital with two rehab therapy gyms, owned and co-developed by New Era Companies and WB Development. People with disabling illnesses and injuries, such as brain injury, stroke, and other complex medical, neurological, and orthopedic diseases and injuries, are cared for under the management of Nobis. A team of medical rehab physicians, therapists, and rehab-trained nurses, along with the hospital care team, will develop the intensive medical rehabilitation program for each patient during their hospital stay.
