before the beginning of the new year. The organization reports that the decision is connected to a current transition between digital platforms and a structured effort to ensure uninterrupted access for participants during that process. “

As we approach the new year, I hope that anyone seeking structure, connection, or spiritual grounding will find what they need in this fellowship.”

The Recovery Coven functions as a national spiritual recovery community with participants located in multiple regions of the United States. Although the fellowship maintains ritual activity and in-person gatherings in the Metro Detroit area, current membership spans states such as Louisiana, Florida, Rhode Island, Colorado, California, and Washington. The organization confirms that its recent move to a new online platform has improved visibility of member distribution across the country and has enabled more consistent participation in weekly and monthly programming.

BACKGROUND ON THE RECOVERY COVEN

The Recovery Coven has been active for more than a year, originally operating through a mobile app that offered educational content and digital recovery support. The fellowship identifies itself as a spiritual community serving witches in recovery and individuals practicing sober witchcraft. Its primary purpose is described as creating a protected spiritual environment where spiritual identity and recovery practices can coexist.

The fellowship reports that membership has increased significantly during the recent two-week period, growing from zero to more than fifty registered individuals on the new platform. This growth coincides with the decision to open the Standard tier without cost during the transitional phase. The organization states that both new and long-time participants will continue to have access to the weekly Witches Recovery Circles, which have remained free since the program's inception.

According to Sovereign Phoenix, participants who register for the Standard tier during this period will retain access for the lifetime of their involvement and will not be required to transition to paid tiers later. The organization confirms that the free membership applies only to those who join before the start of the new year.

PROGRAMMING INCLUDED IN THE STANDARD MEMBERSHIP

The fellowship notes that the Standard membership includes access to multiple monthly workshops that address spiritual development, ritual practice, creativity, and personal reflection. These workshops are framed as foundational components of the fellowship's curriculum for the sober witch. They are typically offered once per month and focus on strengthening intuitive skills, applying creative processes as a form of emotional or spiritual exploration, and building ritual proficiency for members who incorporate magickal practice into their recovery framework. These workshops will remain part of the Standard tier moving forward.

The Standard membership also includes access to the Recovering Witches Toolkit. This digital resource contains materials used regularly within the fellowship, including the Witches 13 Steps to Recovery, the Witches Promises, the Frequency of Acceptance, the Serenity Prayer, a tarot recovery spread, and a life purpose spread. The toolkit is intended to serve as introductory guidance and spiritual structure for individuals integrating witchcraft or intuitive practice into their recovery process.

Sovereign Phoenix also confirms that individuals who enroll during this period may seek initiation within the fellowship if they choose to deepen their involvement in the future. Initiation is not required and is optional for members who wish to participate more formally in the religious structure of the community.

RATIONALE FOR THE FREE MEMBERSHIP PERIOD

According to the organization, the choice to offer the Standard tier at no cost is tied primarily to the ongoing transition between digital platforms. The leadership team reports that features, integrations, and membership systems are still being configured. Removing cost during this period allows new and current members to access programming without navigating potential technical inconsistencies.

The timing also aligns with changes to the fellowship's event calendar. The organization notes that December traditionally includes fewer scheduled events due to winter holidays and increased personal obligations among members. Leaders determined that this period presented a lower barrier for individuals who may want to explore the community while the schedule is less intensive.

Sovereign Phoenix acknowledges that the holiday season also corresponds with an observed increase in recovery-related challenges for many individuals. The fellowship states that providing expanded access during this time supports its mission to maintain stable spiritual and recovery-focused environments for witches in recovery who may seek additional connection or structure in the final weeks of the year.

MEMBER FEEDBACK FOLLOWING THE TRANSITION

Members who have recently joined the new platform have shared responses that the organization has chosen to make public. According to one participant, the fellowship offered "a place where I felt seen and understood in a way I had not experienced in other recovery settings." Another member described the experience by stating, "I did not know there was a community where my identity as a witch and my commitment to recovery could both be acknowledged. This space has given me a sense of alignment I did not have before."

These testimonials represent paraphrased summaries of statements submitted to leadership after the platform transition. The organization reports that feedback has been generally positive regarding the accessibility of programming and the continuation of weekly circles.

STATEMENT FROM THE FOUNDER

Sunshine, Founder of The Recovery Coven, provided a statement regarding the decision to implement the temporary free membership period. “This season is often a challenging time for people in recovery, and stability can make a meaningful difference. With the platform transition in progress, it made sense to remove financial barriers so that individuals who need consistent support can access it without concern. As we approach the new year, I hope that anyone seeking structure, connection, or spiritual grounding will find what they need in this fellowship.”

ORGANIZATIONAL CONTEXT

Sovereign Phoenix identifies itself as a nonprofit spiritual fellowship whose purpose is to protect sacred religious space for practitioners navigating spiritual identity and recovery simultaneously. The organization provides programming rooted in witchcraft, ritual practice, and spiritual reflection, and states that its structure is designed to support individuals for whom traditional recovery or religious environments may not be aligned.

The Recovery Coven functions as one of the primary community branches within the fellowship. Its programming is centered on spiritual recovery frameworks used by witches in recovery, including sober witchcraft and related practices. The fellowship’s leadership reports that its national participation continues to increase as awareness grows regarding alternative recovery models that integrate spirituality, ritual, and personal sovereignty.
