COOPER CITY, FL, UNITED STATES, December 8, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Retirement Planning by Best has officially launched a new advisor matching service designed to connect individuals and families in Cooper City with top-rated retirement planning professionals.

The platform aims to simplify the search process by pairing residents with vetted financial advisors who can guide them through every stage of retirement preparation—from income planning and tax strategy to long-term wealth preservation.

Studies continue to show that Americans are underprepared for retirement. According to recent data, 1 in 5 or 21% of retirees in the United States have no retirement savings at all, signaling a growing need for accessible, professional guidance. Retirement Planning by Best seeks to bridge this gap by offering a streamlined, personalized matching experience.

“Many people delay retirement planning because they don’t know where to start,” stated a company representative. “Our mission is to remove that barrier by connecting Cooper City residents with advisors who have the experience, credentials, and dedication needed to guide them toward financial security.”

Unlike traditional advisory firms, Retirement Planning by Best operates exclusively as a referral hub. The company collaborates with a broad network of trusted financial advisors, each specializing in areas such as wealth management, retirement income planning, Social Security optimization, insurance strategies, and investment solutions. After learning an individual’s goals and needs, Retirement Planning by Best matches them with the advisor best suited for their circumstances.

The importance of proactive planning has never been clearer. Research published by the Insured Retirement Institute found that only 24% of baby boomers feel confident they will have enough savings to last throughout retirement.<sup>2</sup> With rising longevity and increasing economic uncertainty, ensuring long-term financial stability requires careful planning and expert guidance.

“Cooper City residents deserve access to knowledgeable retirement planning professionals who can help them make informed decisions,” according to another company spokesperson. “Whether someone is five years from retirement or just getting started, the right advisor can make an extraordinary difference in achieving long-term peace of mind.”

Retirement Planning by Best’s platform is designed to offer a seamless, user-friendly experience. Residents can answer a few brief questions about their financial goals, risk tolerance, retirement timeline, and desired level of advisor involvement. From there, the service identifies the advisor whose expertise aligns most closely with the client’s needs.

“For many families, retirement is the most significant financial milestone they will ever prepare for,” stated another company representative. “Our matching service ensures that residents do not have to navigate this journey alone. They get connected to someone qualified, trustworthy, and focused on helping them secure their future.”

The company emphasizes that it does not directly provide financial planning, investment management, or tax services. Instead, it serves as a matchmaker, bridging the gap between individuals seeking retirement clarity and the seasoned advisors capable of delivering it.
