

Origins Texas Recovery Now In-Network with Optum / United Behavioral Health

New partnership expands access to gender-specific addiction treatment across Texas.

SOUTH PADRE ISLAND, TX, UNITED STATES, December 8, 2025

/EINPresswire.com/ -- Origins Texas Recovery, a leading provider of gender-specific, 12-step addiction treatment, is proud to announce it is now in-network with Optum / United Behavioral Health. This partnership increases access to affordable, comprehensive addiction care for individuals and families across Texas and beyond.

Origins Texas Recovery's specialized programs, including Hannah's House (women's detox and residential care), Origins Recovery Center (ORC) (men's detox and residential care), and Origins Counseling (in-person and virtual outpatient programs), are now more accessible through expanded insurance coverage. This expansion increases access to gender-specific, 12-step-based addiction treatment that also addresses co-occurring trauma and mental health conditions.

"This partnership represents a major step forward in making compassionate, clinically excellent addiction treatment accessible to the communities we serve," said Roy M. Serpa, Chairman of the Board of Origins Texas Recovery. "By partnering with Optum / United Behavioral Health, more individuals and families can begin their journey to recovery without financial barriers."

Mandy Baker, VP of Operations of Origins Texas Recovery, added: "Our mission has always been to meet people where they are and provide treatment that is accessible, evidence-based, and deeply personalized. Being in-network allows us to extend our reach, helping more Texans access the specialized care they deserve through our residential and outpatient programs."
