“With Global Change Management Day, we honor the many practitioners, teams and leaders who drive positive transformation every day,” said Rich Batchelor, MCMP™, ACMP Board President. “2026 will be especially meaningful as ACMP will celebrate its 15-year journey—while inviting every individual and organization around the world to join us in recognizing how change management helps build resilient, thriving communities.”

“As someone who was born in Durban, South Africa, lived and worked in Europe, a career that took me around the world, and now call Cambridge, UK, home, I appreciate and embrace the power of our global change community,” said Deshini Newman, Chief Executive Officer of ACMP. “Global Change Management Day is an open invitation to practitioners, leaders, and teams everywhere—across regions, cultures, and sectors—to celebrate the shared and joyful craft of guiding people through navigating change.
