EINPresswire.com/ -- In partnership with Feeding America, Euro Fresh Foods is donating an estimated 200,000 pounds (422 pallets) of fresh, imported-from-Italy pasta to the Greater Chicago Food Depository.

“

Our pasta donation shows our belief that everyone deserves access to quality, nourishing food, especially when food benefits are reduced. We're proud to support the Food Depository's vital work.”

Euro Fresh Foods*

Upon receipt of this donated pasta, the Greater Chicago Food Depository will distribute the pasta through its network of community partners across Cook County, helping families prepare simple, filling meals during a period of increased demand. This donated pasta can potentially provide over one million servings of pasta to Americans in need.

“Our recent pasta donation reflects our belief that everyone deserves access to quality, nourishing food, especially during the holidays and at a time when many food benefits have been cut or drastically reduced,” said

Sheila Saguear, President of Euro Fresh Foods. “We're honored to do our part to support the Food Depository's vital work at a time when community need is heightened.”

“The timing of this generous donation from Euro Fresh Foods is critical,” said Lynda Rosenbush, Director of Procurement at the Greater Chicago Food Depository. “As more neighbors turn to us for help, versatile items like pasta go a long way in ensuring families can put a comforting meal on the table.”

This donation underscores Euro Fresh Foods' continued commitment to supporting local communities across the USA and combating food insecurity through meaningful partnerships and programs like Feeding America.
