International Jury & Evaluation

Entries were evaluated by an international panel of professionals across the photography industry, including Gigi Chung (United States), Alessandra Minotti (Italy), Robert Lie (Indonesia), Pieter Clicteur (Belgium), Donell Gumiran (Philippines), Nicholas Duers (United States), Yvon Jolivet (Canada), Abhijit Bose (India), Mieke Douglas (United Kingdom), Dawid Galinski (Poland), Ryo Utsunomiya (Japan), and more.

Through a blind judging process, each submission was judged based on originality, creativity, technical execution, subject matter, and overall impression, ensuring results that are impartial and credible.

“The photographers have proven that photography is more than technical mastery,” said Thomas Brandt, spokesperson for IAA. “Their winning image captures the spirit of creativity in a world constantly in motion — a reminder that great photography does not just reflect reality, but redefines how we see it. As we look ahead to 2026, the New York Photography Awards continues to celebrate those who dare to innovate, inspire, and transform vision into timeless art.”

As the New York Photography Awards concludes its global celebration of creative excellence this year, attention now turns to the 2026 MUSE Photography Awards, an international photography competition that continues to honor photographers who transform vision and emotion into impactful imagery.
