"Our strategy extends beyond implementation. We concentrate on strategic enablement, connecting business objectives with scalable technology," said BPX founder Nikhil Agarwal. "Every SAP-led transformation project is built to drive long-term enterprise value, helping companies compete and expand in today's digital-first world."

One of the latest large-scale success stories of BPX involved a multinational customer with a presence in over 20 nations. The customer worked with BPX to move from old systems to a single SAP enterprise transformation solution. The outcome was a 35% more efficient supply chain, a 22% reduced procurement cycle, and an unambiguous end-to-end process, all of which were accomplished within less than 11 months of deployment.

These solutions are born out of the unmatched experience of BPX in the deep domain knowledge, process-oriented methodology, and collaborative approach to implementation. With every project, BPX pairs its proprietary SOP-driven methodology with robust SAP capabilities in order to make sure that every digital journey phase is explicitly defined, controlled, and optimized.
