Technology, Inc. today announced it has successfully donated its advanced solar racking system to The New Hanover Outreach Dental Clinic to support the installation of a new solar power system. This initiative underscores Top Rack Technology's commitment to community service and the advancement of sustainable energy adoption.

Throughout the project's execution, Top Rack Technology collaborated closely with outstanding partner Cape Fear Solar Systems, LLC, ensuring the seamless installation of the racking system and the efficient completion of the project. This philanthropic effort not only provides the clinic with reliable clean energy but will also significantly reduce its operating expenses, allowing the clinic to dedicate more resources to essential community healthcare services.

"We are honored to contribute to the New Hanover community through the donation of our high-quality racking system," said Matthew St.John, Business Development Manager at Top Rack Technology. "Our partnership with Cape Fear Solar
