EINPresswire.com/ -- Prime 1 Studio has opened pre-orders for the "Real Elite Masterline Marcus Fenix" statue from "Gears of War: Reloaded," a title released with the series' 20th anniversary in mind.

Sculpted at 1/3 scale, Marcus Fenix is depicted with detailed sculpting and paintwork that reflect the game's updated visuals. His one-knee stance with the Lancer at the ready conveys the tension of cover-based shooting—firing while taking shelter behind obstacles.

The statue's portrait captures key facial details, including blue-gray eyes and the scar on his right cheek. The COG armor is sculpted with material-specific textures and finished with weathering suited to harsh conditions. The Lancer is also rendered with close attention, including the tone of blood caked onto the chainsaw.

The special base evokes the brutality of the battlefield, and a fallen Drone is crafted with attention to detail, including the severed surfaces. Additional elements—including emblems, the Gnasher, and a necklace—deepen the connection to the world of the game.

LED lighting is built into the COG armor, Lancer, and special base, featuring cold blue and blazing orange illumination.

A standing lower body is included as well, presenting Marcus with two feet planted firmly on the ground and bringing the overall display to nearly 1 meter in height.
