NAPLES, FL, UNITED STATES, December 29, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ --

Performance Optimal Health has solidified its presence in Southwest Florida with two burgeoning Naples locations, marking a significant milestone in the brand's commitment to making world-class wellness accessible across the region.

The expansion comes three years after Performance opened its first Florida location off Logan Boulevard in North Naples in September 2022. The brand's second Naples facility in Charleston Square opened in October 2025, bringing Performance's signature integrative approach to downtown Naples and the surrounding communities.

Expanding to two locations in Naples allows us to serve more people where they are, when they need us.”

Todd Wilkowski, Founder and CEO of Performance Optimal Health

Together, the two locations span 6,500 square feet of specialized wellness space, offering clients across Southwest Florida convenient access to physical therapy, fitness, nutrition and recovery services under one roof. Both facilities feature state-of-the-art equipment, private treatment rooms and dedicated spaces designed to support long-term health outcomes.

"Expanding to two locations in Naples allows us to serve more people where they are, when they need us," said Todd Wilkowski, Founder and CEO of Performance Optimal Health. "For the community, it means greater accessibility to care that's personalized, evidence-based and designed around real results. For our brand, it's validation that our whole-person approach resonates here and that Southwest Florida is ready for a new standard in wellness."

Performance Optimal Health's original North Naples location opened in September 2022.

The Charleston Square location at 225 Banyan Boulevard was strategically chosen for its proximity to downtown Naples, medical centers and physicians, making it easier for clients to incorporate Performance's services into their daily routines. The North Naples facility continues to serve families and professionals in the growing Logan Boulevard corridor.

Performance's model brings together physical therapy, fitness training, nutrition counseling and recovery modalities in a single, collaborative environment. Guided by its Four Pillars of Optimal Health, exercise, recovery, stress management and nutrition, the brand delivers tailored programs that address the full spectrum of wellness, from injury recovery to performance optimization.

"What sets us apart is the integration," Wilkowski said. "Clients don't have to coordinate care across multiple providers or locations. Our in-house experts work together to create a unified plan that evolves with each person's goals and needs. That's what concierge-level care looks like, and now we're able to deliver it at two locations across Naples."

The expansion positions Performance Optimal Health as one of Southwest Florida's most comprehensive wellness destinations, offering specialized services that include physical therapy, Pilates, massage therapy, personal training, nutrition coaching and advanced recovery technology. Both locations provide the full suite of services, ensuring consistency and accessibility for clients throughout the region.
