

One Year Later: Palisades Residents Demand Accountability in Community Rally for Preventable Fire, Failed Response

One year after the catastrophic Palisades Fire, residents will rally in the heart of the Pacific Palisades to demand accountability.

PACIFIC PALISADES, CA, UNITED STATES, December 30, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- On January 7, 2026, exactly one year after the catastrophic Palisades Fire, residents will rally in the heart of the Pacific Palisades to demand accountability for a total breakdown in prevention, precaution and leadership from the City of Los Angeles, State of California, LADWP, LA Fire Officials, California State Parks, California Natural Resources Agency, state/local agencies, Governor Newsom, and Mayor Bass. Despite promises of action, city and state leadership and agencies have delivered little real progress, with limited vision or a clear plan paired with great uncertainty.

“We lost more than our homes. We lost trust,” said Palisades resident and rally organizer Mariam Engel. “This fire was preventable. The city ignored warnings, ignored protocol, and ignored its own firefighters. Now, a year later, families are still without homes, and we’re gathered to remind leaders. We haven’t forgotten — even if they have.”

“On this one-year anniversary, we’re rallying with Ten Imperatives to help facilitate families returning while minimizing their losses. Until there is a plan of action, transparency, and settlement, we will speak truth to power,” said Jeremy Padawer, local resident, rally speaker, and publisher of PacificPalisades.com.

The Ten Imperatives:

1. No sales tax on rebuild state or city
2. No permit fees

3. ULA Holiday for 5 years
4. No property tax on dwelling until certificate of occupancy
5. Police/Palisades station
6. Brush Clearing clear plan
7. Budget Transparency
8. Electrical Undergrounding
9. Evacuation Planning
10. Insurance Planning

They Let Us Burn

The "They Let Us Burn" demonstration begins at 10:30 am on January 7 in Palisades Village. Speakers will include local homeowners, business owners, local politicians, as well as experts addressing failures in fire preparedness, evacuation planning, insurance recovery, legal settlement recovery, and environmental cleanup.

This protest isn't politically motivated. This is a call for fairness, accountability, and a vision for the rebuild. Media are encouraged to attend.
